MAVIG

The Power of Prevention and Protection

The association Brustkrebs Deutschland e.V.* advises every woman to have regular breast self-checks and to be examined by a specialist.

In this way, possible changes in the breast tissue can be detected at an early stage, enabling more effective treatment. This is particularly important for women who work in the healthcare sector.

Recent research suggests a connection between radiation exposure at work and an increased incidence of breast cancer in women in many healthcare fields, from orthopaedical surgeons to radiographers.
